

ON THE TRACK OF «THE PICTURE OF DORIAN GRAY»

MAYFAIR

Mayfair is a residential zone of London where is located in the book the luxurious Lord Harry's house, where Dorian Gray waits sitting in an armchair the latecomer Lord Harry.

After a meticulous visit to the most historical houses, we propose you two alternatives:

- A. PICCADILLY CIRCUS, one of the most famous square in London
- B. RELAX AT HYDE PARK, one of the largest park in London

A) PICCADILLY

Visit the wonderful Piccadilly Circus, a square located in the City of Westminster. Here you'll be able to appreciate the bright displays of the most trendy brands on the facade of a building and you will be terribly near to a zone plenty of shops and locals.

This square has become a symbol of London and with us you'll understand why!

B) HYDE PARK

Have a rest at Hyde Park or visit the Speaker's Corner, famous for the public speeches of Mark, Lenin and other political personalities.

If you want to keep fit you can play in the football or tennis field, go swimming, roller skating and also horseback riding.

Then if you are hungry, there are two restaurants on the bank of the lake.

EAST END

It's the zone where there's the teathre when Dorian Grey meets for the first time Sybil Vane who was interpreting in a magnificent way Juliet.

In East End there's the impressive Canary Wharf, with three of the highest skyscrapers in Great Britain that will look you down on.

CONVENT GARDEN

It's here that Dorian Gray decided to return home after a serious argument with Sybil Vane who had acted in a awful way, really different from the other performances. It 's the last time Dorian Gray will see the girl, because then she'll swallow some poison and she'll be found dead

Here we'll explain the origin and the architectural peculiarities of Convent Garden. You could see also funny buskers and you could buy some gadgets of your trip.

DUBLIN (TRINITY COLLEGE)

The final destination is the hometown of Oscar Wilde, the author of the book. After a small tour of the city you'll have the opportunity to visit the Trinity College.

It's this the college where Wilde has studied until 1875, so you could understand better the places of his adolescence and places that has inspired him.
